

BEING THE ARCH PRINCE: THE WORKING MAN'S EQUITY ©

Media Friends, Media Enemies

Year date 3rd March 2011

Copyright by the Arch Prince

Having been made a Royal Prince by Her Majesty the Queen of England, Queen Elizabeth R II, I had all these alliances curtsey of her, available to me Globally, in the process of aiding her with Her work via my writing career. This was my payment for the Royal Estate I received and I had to get an education and apply my much sought after abilities and skills, which I had already displayed and been successful at on other occasion before now, to cash into my Reputation, person Estate and Alliances and friends which was based on being one of the Many Governing Royalty which Exist on Planet earth. The result was that before Her Majesty's reward, what I had done with the workers and forces of evil in the world because I was able to predict what they would try to do and thus fix their problem at present with a good means of controlling generation gap issues and crisis and corruptions that would be created by the younger generation was that I had set about declaring them before they could get rich and more so at my expense, as they were planning to, which really had no real means of success, which I did before they could declare themselves, which meant that all they did simply confirmed every single thing I had said about them and it became impossible for them to oppress anybody, or indeed get famous, no matter how evil they became. This courted me the attention of businesses and financial institutions who liked my securities and equities and awarded me insignificant shares of their companies all over the world for security: they began to build brands out of my Global Intellectual space and the feel of it and its securities and equities, which I had to look after and the risks soon emerge of people who had enough money to get involved; starting from the United States where people can do what they like with these properties and equities and ask who the hell knows who I am to my face, finding some racist way by which it can be attributed to a white man, which already began with public media claims that I am an adulterer and Russia where they simply grab your things and tell you to come round to their country if you feel you are black enough and have got enough balls. These risks I had taken care of, which courted me the attention of Businesses in Asia as well and this is how I got my foothold in the manufacturing world, selling equities for which every stupid witchcraft wielding girl and violent men who want to be rich feel that media has enabled them to compete with me for, hence that power which a small idiot has anywhere think they intend to take away from me because as they put it, it is woman's work (except the difficult bits) which would never have been an issue, if British Politicians and Royalty were not so busy stopping me from finishing my studies and thus earning from it. Hence after looking into all these matters, I am now left with media trouble makers and the aftermath of an economic crisis, in which I had to work so terribly hard to save my interests and companies which own a mutual ownership policy system with me, despite the fact those who caused these problems understood they were evil business men, while my Global Intellectual space reflected the fact I was passionate about the environment, not to mention the desire to sexually abuse me and telling me so thereof in public all of the time or ensure I am some kind of property which belongs to the United States of America where there are more like them, for we had come to an agreement with the Russians and the Chinese and the Japanese and Europeans over the matter.

So the process of friendship and alliances and the working of the means to social cohesion, operated via the social aspects of my duties which settles the importance of the family unit, rather than the interests of men and the interests of women and the corrupt violent people who advocate them or indeed the secrete societies they belongs to, in which Politicians and evil business men and women are the most prominent and important members. So the fact that in fact and application they do not believe in God but run the affairs of the Church, from the smallest to the largest is to them supposed to be a matter of society but to me it is primarily provocative because they do things to people that people don't like, which have nothing to do with God but because there is the popular notion they are Godly people and work with Church they get into a habit of it with gusto and confidence, especially for the prospects of the dominations of their stupid children because there is no alternative argument that can ever in the circumstances be effective. So in terms of their challenge to my authority and the presumption I ought to have a self esteem crisis through their insolence, all I can say is that I have listened to them for long enough and That I am an Arch Prince and cannot make out what their problem with that is; personally I do not think messing around with other peoples diplomatic work, personal life and their finances does get to mean you are stupid enough to actually step up and challenge them; otherwise they will hide those their wickedness somewhere and I will scrutinise it until I find it out, then take it out and sell it, so they can feel like killing again and then find a way to make themselves feel like they have won something with media lies to calm themselves with my work again, then make even more noise again later.

Iraq has been their so called bench mark for the 21st century but what really happened in Iraq as compared to other benchmarks of freedom and threats to the Monarchy they would devise, is that they told no body there anything; as a result of which if we have to look at the scenarios of blood shed in that country today, we can count at least three which were about constitutional matters all together:-at least 3 in a decade; the only winners of the Iraq war is still those who want to get on public media and find some means of wicked power by which they can cause the death of another human being, without suffering consequences by law; which is what they on the other hand and their American friends had to deal with as a factor of the worlds only super power whose world trade centre can be blown up at will by a collection of terrorists and did nothing about.. So I don't like their stupid insults in anyway. I find it difficult to imagine that these issues were a problem for them when they are the Politicians who are the prominent people in the secrete society where these trouble makers belong and also where they devise their ideas and conspiracies for the trouble they cause in public. The condition we have today is an explosion of spiritually based leadership, which as we know is not a factor of academic qualification but of religious and Godly recognition, coupled with ignorance and I am not sorry for ignoring Islamic extremists and rather using circular society to set all the necessary examples and to convey all the necessary messages in the slightest. They move into my right because they are either making out they are so corrupt and have so much power over my life that they are getting things from God and I am the one they bully into getting them from God for them or because they are making themselves out to be God in order to break rules and transform their insults into blasphemies, while ruining my finances.

So the reason I never talk about it in terms of things that the Politicians must do with my job after opening my heart to the world before I get a job, to sit somewhere and talk nonsense about work based oppressions on me by which they will get glory, nor do I the nonsense that comes from the corruptions young people dish out, which involves moving me left and when I try to do anything destroy the right so no body gets to have it; is because it is better to sit back and deal with the issue of the things I look like I can give up all the time, than to do so with idiots for whom the violence they talk about all the time will operate so much more differently from the way they see it because I beat them in everyway imaginable, so much so they now depend on me, which is how they came across the means of getting rich with power and when they feel threatened, they will start bullying me to grab strategy again. People will now pay for films and watch TV programmes in which companies advertise products that they know is brought to them curtesy of the Government; so that they can have such corruptions as a UK film council. I intend to ensure they have none of my responsibilities to society more so to be rich and famous with especially so while they are stifling sale of my books and feeling it is some kind of fun at the other end, not will they have what I have done for civility and my own civil rights-which they know I unlike them do not go to the international community for, besides which my liberalism is meant for my close family, as I already have my heart opened up to the world before I get a job and they know that keeping me without earnings is violent, besides the fact that is, that I am Royalty and have no Political power.

It's the same with the prognosis of globalization being made as they have proposed, to trickle wealth down to the middle; whereas I have warned them before about the fact poor people are the hardest to make money abusing because all the money they have is ear marked to be spent on something and all the money they earn is gotten from working for those who make the products they spend it on; so if any who tries is lucky to escape the society based problems, they will still call in the Politicians at the end who will have your Hyde. For my part, somebody will have been unable to have their jobs, do their studies etc because of another person's society wickedness, at the end of which the person is too financially stricken to meet enough people to find somebody they like to settle down with or single for so long, that they are being taken advantage of by industry-while the causes of it want globalisation to trickle wealth down to the middle since it is never enough and they promise to do no work for their money; so each time such victims work out they can hide themselves doing cultural things, somebody has to unleash their evil far right and its witchcraft on them, so that they can come round to ask me to make securities available for them to earn a living with and when I do, not only am I being attacked to fight racism for everybody, they also take it over because they can become music industry tycoons and or have UK film councils, or Fashion lines with a big mouth and it will not stop until it goes horribly wrong.

What do they hope to gain by getting off in public places deploying my books by abusing my reputation to bring about revolution in other peoples countries? It is never going to be put down to their names anyway by the way; all those times when they use my work to have sex with people claiming themselves to be heroes, which then becomes a problem when they use the impetus which exists to get on public media everyday to prevent me from selling my books or even writing them all together-which shall be their undoing before globalisation trickles wealth to the middle so they can get away with it. So the two issues that become so promiscuous in this part of the world these days is; first the process by which they loose their silly democratic freedom on the left because they are of the habit of hurting me in order to make out they are better people than I am. which they do not need to do because their community organised wickedness which is now running Church affairs as well-settling the interests of violent corrupt girls and boys makes that statement all the time, so I took it all away and they lost their joys of naivety and then their other joys of naivety based freedom by which they are naïve and free to wreck whatever havoc they please with my personal life and property, which I took away as well, for after all, they are always boasting about their ability to bring about world peace on it and so imagining a new one naivety should be a piece of cake.

Their Politicians especially in the US love this insolent idea the things I do interferes with their work and it has got to be a matter of some huge ego or a matter of a very bad habit that they have developed on me over the years, after the Blair government made me available to them in order to grab my feelings of home Mafia style that they have never been good enough to, to this day, which of course is none of my business anyway. All I know is first of all that if US politicians think the UK will do something democratic they will take over later, then the problem here is that they cannot get themselves out of the internal affairs of the UK, which is creating a problem for everybody and I am not sorry for it either, the other problem of course is that my problem is that those idiots in their secrete societies are destroying absolutely every useful thing in my life in order to extract those powers, with which they can cause the death of other human beings without going to prison for it and they were the ones that started off the insolence of trying to go down in history as more important than other peoples Arch Princes when a condition of any idiot being permitted and given opportunity to address him had been effected, while trying to convince the rest of the world as well that whilst they belong to and lead the secret societies that these scum belong to as well, they do not know what they are doing now is something that should be tackled before a war of interests on an unarmed country has been put into force. It is absurd the idea the things I do and say has anything to do with them. I still wonder why they do it anyway; when a president organised a process where a media idiot addresses me and leaves it for community goons, which has topped up his notoriety and created the sense he is as a matter of priority more important than I am regardless of what my job is, they make out what I say and do has something to do with them as well, not to mention trying to determine what happens to the sale of my books, for the purpose of putting it into a fight between them and an opposing and rival Political party, which means the licence to destroy my income and my books will never expire forever, then suppose not only that when I have power over them I should give it up so they can be important but that they will bully favours out of me as well with a big mouth; I mean what do they expect me to do?

Of course some of the destructive things the Royals they are friend with here in the UK when they have money and time to meet each other and cause me lots of trouble are claimed to be the things they do because I step out of line, when performing my duties towards the Queen; so it applies that I step out of line when I say things which are in my personal interest and said to my friends and also that I step out of line when I say things in the process of doing my job and also that I step out of line when I say things which pertain to my job, suggesting then that somebody wants to knock themselves out with it. I was not selected because they were more clever than I am, nor was I and they not because they had more discipline to sit down and control themselves and do a job without supervision, which has to do with a Royal Estate and getting paid with good will and securities and even if they were would never have been chosen because I was chosen for the fact my boss liked my formulae, not the way I respond to being told what to do; so 'step out of line' and media idiots telling me what to do like a habit, does not want to end in an amicable way, especially when their socially organised violent witchcraft goons always pick up from there at community levels and the civil service, to make me clumsy all the time, which also makes it difficult for me to cope with the weather and make it fun to ruin my finances as well, while seeking privileges of injustice from Politicians each time they do because they are scared I will retaliate but never the less never stop either and like to brag all the time when their social and sexual corruptions pay off, for the purpose of trying to corrupt the rest of the world as well on my hands-later on of which is followed on with complains and threats from idiots all over the west especially stupid South Africans as well which have strange relationships with money, which they have never work for and never intend to work and talk nonsense all the time because the world is an evil place.

I have already made them understand all my time is spent on my job as a government chief of staff and looking into the interests of the institution of family when talking about society and that I have nothing to do with the men who talk so much rubbish about how that thing I show off all the time is for their girls or the men or women who do so claiming it is for their boys. All the idiots ever do is make money and spoil themselves on the left to be terribly insolent and on the right to be violent; it is nice to have their opinions but sometimes it gets too much and tiresome i.e. naturally when I do family issues, I spend time supporting the men so they can control the boys and the women so they can control the girls, this is what I mean it is nice to have their opinions but sometimes it is tiresome.

At the end of the day people like to work with socialists fools to make out those girls and boys that are always finding ways to get better off with other peoples income and tell them they are stepping out of line with royal work, which will get really serious sooner or later, are doing a good thing. I mean are they now that everybody is less than the men they should be and the personality they should be, except me that is-whose house every political scum wants to own with a big mouth, is it still a good thing? So they would never have had the discipline to sit down and do a job that was based on being paid with securities and even if they could do it, I would still have been chosen anyway because my boss liked my formulae not theirs. They have got money or they have got big business and those their stupid evil insolent girls and boys will not stop ripping my income to shreds all the time, which I am sure will carry on until it goes horribly wrong; how can such a fact be a mystery?

Of course they are feeders but is it all impressive? So if you ruin peoples finances and give your children money and it actually does not have any effect or mean they have more money than such a person when you know you are no body and he is a Royal Prince what do you do, continue with it for a decade, then find you don't want to fight anymore when he is about to have his revenge: they do enjoy their sadisms don't they as it were, by which some of them have been ruining my studies because they are members of Her Majesty's Family? They also love to ask stupid questions about things, so the idea can be created it is all some kind of fun they are having which is utter nonsense because the most important question has something to do with the fact my job is not their business, neither is anything I do in the process of getting a qualification for it.

So of course they claim to have strange evil powers of secrete societies which has progressed by now into strange evil powers of impressions without doing anything about the Far right, with which they make me do things, which I know they will punish me with their secrete society powers if I don't, that I am supposed to have the tolerance to ignore by earning from my job which Politicians and young people are so corrupt they are making sure does not happen but it is supposed to be some kind of confidence in their mad secrete society violence and the process of grabbing my income with it, even when it does not make me do anything because there are people aiding them to, who think they will have society witchcraft and community relations, when spending anything they do to hide was my forte in the first place.

I get told I weaken the defences then complain about the problems, which of course is just part of these such idiots knocking themselves out with it-as I mentioned, I don't. For if they get off to wind up goons, those are not going to kill them in anyway whatsoever; all I do is that when they consult them evil men, to see their future and know whether or not they will be successful and rich and famous and come round abusing me with those wickedness, I make those evils famous by spending anything they have put in place to hide and when they are those who use them become less famous or rich and or successful, which is how a fair society should operate.

I should not be expected to manage the devil for idiots by idiots, while they do what they like because I am a Christian and they have got Politicians with a big mouth. This is the reason I pump them up with information, which either inspires them or makes them wonder so they can complain about it as well, since their insults are always picked up by their community witchcraft goons who always let me know what they feel about my actions on no uncertain terms. By which their witchcraft that they co-ordinate with their community witchcraft goon are used by them to make me clumsy all the time; I mean if this is how they like me, then I just have to look that way, until I can no longer find them anywhere near my life, after all in terms of my Royal Estate doing things myself when I want it done was my forte; the problem is that the whether in the UK is cold, so their insults make it difficult to cope with the weather and they are violent as well for the purpose ; if I don't want to be clumsy I very well can but it is not what they would like.

Hence they force me to be a pervert and when it does not work settle what my reputation in the world should be with media power, I too love to force them to serve God, so they can feel like moving into my right all the time, which then must mean they are getting less corrupt and greedy and the world is not a bad and evil place in anyway and people can get jobs and earn money and they will work for their earnings.

Today it is a bunch of claims that help them to drive the worst of the evils they get themselves involved with for power into my life. Such as when a Queen likes me for the things I do, in their view she is supposed to like me for who I am and they will go on and on and on about how I am job sharing with Her, to the point where they do it so intensely and so viciously and violently that people begin to believe it and snap out of such stupid notions regularly, while they extract the suspense and use it for advertisement and to get rich. Now it is applied to my work as well; they claim I declare some global verge and then tell businesses to call me when everybody is just as connected as I am-when I broke my securities with businesses and write books to secure them and they create a gap between the books and the securities in order to make advertisements, none of which matters who is suffering because they are getting rich and causing even more trouble for power in their wake. So I do know that stopping people being greedy does not exist within the scope of the responsibilities of a government but I have my license as provided by them; they are abusing my rights because they know I am no longer a dependant and have my challenges to face, while they consider themselves to be bullies and very good liars whose version of fact goes all the time because they train to be manipulative perpetually.

-----